

“Balik Kampung Without Worry: Protect Your Home This Festive Season.”

Hari Raya is around the corner!

Many families travel back to their hometowns, leaving their houses empty for several days. While this is a joyful time for reunion and celebration, it also increases the risk of unexpected incidents at home.

Why House Insurance Matters During the Festive Season

A) Protection Against Break-Ins

Empty homes can attract unwanted attention. House insurance helps protect you financially in case of theft or burglary, covering the cost of lost or damaged belongings.

B) Fire and Electrical Risks

Festive decorations, firecrackers, additional lighting/candles, and electrical appliances may increase the risk of fire.

C) Natural Disasters

Malaysia occasionally experiences floods, and with the add-ons, house insurance covers damages caused by floods and other natural disasters.

Peace of Mind While You Travel

Knowing your home is insured allows you to focus on what truly matters – spending quality time with loved ones – without constantly worrying about what might happen back home.

Simple Steps to Enhance Protection

- Inform a trusted neighbor that you will be away.
- Install basic security features such as alarms or smart cameras.
- Switch off unnecessary electrical appliances.
- Ensure your insurance policy is active and adequately covers your home and contents.

Conclusion

Festivals are meant to be enjoyed, not overshadowed by worry. House insurance is a simple yet important safeguard that protects your home, your belongings, and your financial well-being. Before you pack your bags for balik kampung, take a moment to review your coverage – it could make all the difference when the unexpected happens.
